Clearcreek Township Electric Ratepayer,

Clearcreek Township Trustees are pleased to announce that residential customers in the AES territory of the township will benefit from some rate relief beginning with their February electric bill with the new electric aggregation agreement reached last week.

With the new agreement reached between Dynegy Energy Services East (Dynegy) and the Township, residential customers in the AES service territory of the township will see a new, fixed rate of $0.08499/kWh for electric generation service from January 1, 2023, through May 2025, if you wish to participate. Many in the AES service territory had seen their rates jump to as high as $0.1091/kWh, or even higher in some cases, since the expiration of the prior electric aggregation agreement earlier in the summer.

The new agreement with Dynegy will last 28 months and, as has been the case with prior aggregation offerings in Clearcreek Township, is an opt-out program. Residential customers in the AES territory will be automatically enrolled in the new rate program in January unless they take action to opt-out of the offering, or they are already under separate, individual contract with another electric generation service.

To read more about the offering, residents may visit <https://energyalliances.com/clearcreek-township-warren-co>. Alternately, any questions about the new agreement or aggregation offering, and to opt out, you may call Dynegy Energy Services at 888-682-2170, or Energy Alliances at 800-735-0359.

To be included in the program, you must not already be under contract with an electric generation company. Outside of that, you'll be automatically enrolled in the program.
